Who We Are

Classical maids exists to clean. We clean dirty stuff. We like to clean. It's our firm belief that a clean home plays a far more important role than "sanitation". We believe a clean home impacts one's mental & physical health. As such you'll find our rates front and center. In the interest of mental health, we believe open, honest and transparent are the cornerstones of a successful relationship. It is for this reason that we post our extremely competitive affordable prices on our website. We just can't in good consciousness participate in the ways of the past. While we don't typically come out to provide estimates, there are occasions where it becomes necessary. We too are customers, and realize that by "hiding" our prices may cause our customers yet more unnecessary stress and introduce unnecessary steps into the process. Chief among our interest is improving the customer experience by utilizing today's technology. Our customers may interact with

OUR 100% SATISFACTION GUARANTEE

Each day we re-commit to our goal of providing you the best possible cleaning service available. If you aren't 100% satisfied with your cleaning, we will come back and re-clean for free!

Customer Reviews

Curious what our customers had to say? Read some of our real customer reviews below or, check out our 5-star reviews across the web!

"Classical Maids saved the day. I was planning what was initially a small dinner party that quickly ballooned into a full fledged party. I didn't have time to clean up my place and panic sunk in. I messaged Classical Maids and they responded immediately with a few options for scheduling. I quickly logged back online and grabbed the time slot. They showed up and my house was stunning."
